Dan Sauer reported that the tree at Dogwood Exchange was set up on November 3. Reminder, do not date your ornaments. As of the November meeting, Dogwood has sold over $2700.00 in ornaments. Thank you, Angela..

Tom has proposed a club challenge for January. Bring in some of the Burls that were given at the October meeting.

There is still a need for Beads Of Courage boxes and Wig Stands. Les Black has Beads for the BOC boxes. Thanks to all those who have contributed. Also, we need Wig Stands for the hospital Cancer Center. All gifts are greatly appreciated.

John Lucas did a critique on a Buckeye Bowl. He talked about form and different shapes, sanding, and finishes. Thank you John. It was very informative.

Larry Lewis has the sign up sheet for next years demonstrators and refreshments. Do not wait too long to sign up. You do not want to miss your opportunity to demo.

The club held the drawing for the scholarship to either John C Campbell or Arrowmont. The winner was Tom Neckvatal. He will receive a full tuition but the travel and housing will be at his expense. Congradulations, Tom.

The Club will provide the meat, usually a spiral sliced ham and Kentucky Fried Chicken. We will have a gift exchange, so if you would like a gift then bring a gift. If you would like your significant other to have a gift, then bring a gift for them.

SHOW AND TELL

BRUCE BRACKETT TURNING CHRISTMAS TREE TOPPER

Bruce did a fine demonstration on the turning of a Christmas Tree Topper. Starting with the center globe with a diameter of approximately 3 inches. The finial was next and should be about twice the diameter of the globe, Finally, the base should be about 2 inches long, 1 inch goes inside the globe and 1 inch below, This length is necessary to support the topper on the tree. Bruce uses the gray Scotch Brite for finishing. Very well done, Bruce. The Challenge for January is a tree topper.

DONATED FOUR POSTER BED

I met with Mrs Hollinger, the lady that donated the bed to the club for the purpose of making ornaments and related Christmas items for charity. She was quite overwhelmed by the creativity demonstrated by the club members and thankful her bed was put to good use. Thank you to all who participated in the repurposing of the bed by making salable items for charity.
